ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method time-stamps an electronic message in accordance with information about the time zone in which the intended recipient resides where the message is originally received by a message center in a time zone

5   different from the intended recipient.